

“Par Condicio”: Monitoring of the period March 27- April 2

The Commission for services and products of the Communications Regulatory Authority, considering the television monitoring of period March 27 – April 2, has noticed the re-establishment of a balance between the political candidates of PD and PDL in radio television information.

However, from the overall data outcome of the entire period that goes from March 10 (date of list presentation) to this day, the Authority has identified, for what the entire informative television programs are concerned, that the gap remains between the two main political bodies on one side and the other competing lists on the other, even though such gap has decreased in the last few days, compared to the past.

The Commission noticed also that among the lists differing from PD and PDL it comes out, in some cases, an evident unequal treatment. Therefore, the Authority has established that a greater television visibility for these lists shall be granted and, in particular, that within these lists, an adequate access to information has to be guaranteed to the ones that have had up to now quite an irrelevant visibility.

On the basis of such evaluations, Agcom has also examined the last appeals received and, in conclusion of the overall proceeding, has addressed to all broadcasting enterprises the relevant rebalancing mandates for a re-balancing.
