

Appeal to Radio television broadcasters on compliance with the principle of equal access to the media (par condicio)

The Communications Regulatory Authority's Commission for services and products has made an appeal to public and private radio television broadcasters, to have an immediate readjustment of political information among all the lists taking part in the electoral campaign.

From the first week presence of political parties in the news, big imbalance evidence arises both between the two major political parties and the others and between these latter and, to a certain extent, between PDL and PD, in favour of the first one mentioned.
